

COAL PRODUCTION GAINED IN SECOND WEEK NOVEMBER

Aggregate 12,800,000 Tons, of
Which 10,700,000 Are Bituminous.

GAIN IN COKE IN PENNA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The weekly report of the United States Geological Survey, states that preliminary returns on coal loaded at the mines in the week ended November 11 indicate a total production of 12,800,000 tons of which about 10,700,000 tons was bituminous coal and 1,900,000 tons was anthracite. Revised estimates for the week ended November 11 show 10,617,000 tons of bituminous and 1,829,000 tons of anthracite. Thus a slight increase in the total coal raised is shown for the present week as compared with the week before.

Loadings of soft coal on Monday, November 6, total 43,810 cars. On Tuesday, Election Day, loadings declined to 25,310 cars, but on Wednesday 33,875 cars and on Thursday 31,887 cars were loaded. The total for these first four days of the week is a little larger than for the same days of the week preceding.

The rate of output of soft coal is not higher than in 1918 and 1921, and of course much higher than in 1919 when at the corresponding period the great strike of that year had begun; but the present rate is lower than at the same season in 1920. Production of bituminous coal in the second week in November for the past six years has been as follows: 1917, 11,071,243; 1918, 10,247,000; 1919, 3,582,000; 1920, 11,428,000; 1921, 8,592,700; 1922, about 10,700,000.

Labor difficulties continued in Cumberland, Piedmont and Kanawha districts and were responsible for losses of 45.3 and 21.5 per cent, respectively. Many mines in the Somerset, Westmoreland and Connelville districts continued to work short handed with a consequent decrease in capacity. Reports of "no market" were received from operators in nearly all the states west of the Mississippi. Very few such reports were received from the eastern territory, and none of these exceeded two per cent of full time capacity.

The output of beehive coke decreased eight per cent in the week ended November 11 as compared with the week preceding. From reports of cars loaded by the principal railroads the total production during that week is estimated at 217,000 tons against 237,000 tons in the week before.

The principal decrease was in the Pennsylvania-Ohio region. According to The Courier, however, production in the Connelville region increased from 150,720 tons to 164,320 tons. Production in West Virginia and in the remainder of the southern fields decreased. The present rate of output is 58 per cent greater than during the corresponding period of 1921, but in comparison with 1920 a decrease of 44 per cent is indicated.

Changes Esch-Cummings Act Demanded in West

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Results of last week's election indicate a strong public demand for modification of the Transportation Act, and amendments having that purpose will be urged at the approaching special session of Congress by state railroad commissions and Western shipping organizations, according to a statement issued here today by Clyde M. Reed, chairman of the Kansas Utilities Commission.

The amendments proposed will seek particularly restriction of powers conferred by the Esch-Cummings act on the Interstate Commerce Commission, as they apply to control of state railroad service, and modification of provisions setting standards of earnings to which railroads are entitled.

"Disatisfaction with the Transportation Act entered into the result in every western state, and was an emphasized issue in such states as Iowa, Minnesota and North Dakota," Mr. Reed declared.

"The first point of objection to the law felt by western public concerns its requirement that the commission be required to make rates by groups that will give satisfactory earnings to all railroads in a given territory, whether they are badly located and badly equipped, or whether they are properly located and kept in condition."

"A second point is that the fair return principles of the Transportation Act themselves should be modified to remove the influence on the Interstate Commerce Commission that is now holding up proper rate adjustment."

"The third point is that the power of the federal commission to set aside state authority should be definitely restricted to use in case where the state action results in positive discrimination against interstate commerce."

Improvements on the Buffalo Creek & Gauley

The Elk River Coal & Lumber Company, Dundon, W. Va., of which J. G. Bradley is president, has awarded a contract for six steel bridges for its subsidiary, the Buffalo Creek & Gauley railroad. The railroad company recently purchased considerable new rolling stock of heavier type, making it necessary to build stronger bridges to handle the traffic.

The Buffalo Creek & Gauley Railroad runs from W. Va. where the mines of the Elk River Coal & Lumber Company are located, to Dundon, W. Va., connecting there with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, giving the coal company an outlet for its products both east and west.

Bituminous Operators Offer Suggestions

offered in order to surround the workman with reasonable comforts, the letter says:

"In our judgment, the cost of living cannot be standardized, nor can it be ascertained within any useful limits, for the factors upon which it depends are subject to constant change. Not only does it differ as a matter of fact, from time to time, in different coal fields, and at the individual mines in each coal field, but also among the miners themselves, depending upon the disposition and management of the heads of the families. In other words, some families live better than other families of the same size on the same or a lesser income."

In reply to the topic "standardizing mines upon the basis of their economic productive capacity, and regarding the closing down of mines which, by reason of their natural limitation or other conditions, fall below the standard," the reply says:

"The phrase 'economic productive capacity' seems to us too uncertain to be susceptible even of approximate definition."

"We know of no way by which any mine may be closed down contrary to the wish of the owner except by the operation of economic laws."

"The closing down of so-called excessive cost mines, we suggest, will be effectually accomplished by competition whenever the play of competitive forces is free from the interruption caused by strikes with their resulting panic among buyers and runaway markets."

The letter sets up the following points as bases:

"First—that every man has a right to work without either interference or compulsion when, for whom and upon such terms as he may see fit."

"Second—that while the right of workers to organize for legitimate purposes cannot be denied, such organizations have no right to impede or restrain those who do not care to join or to deal with them."

"Third—that the right of private property is and must remain inviolate."

"Fourth—that in order to resolve the law of supply and demand always has and always will determine prices; that no legislation can long interfere with this inexorable rule; that any interference can only be justified, if at all, in time of war; and that at any other time it will inevitably produce greater evils than those which it seeks to suppress."

"Instead, therefore, of seeking remedies of a character which are foreign to the genius and spirit of our American institutions, as well as doubtful from the point of view of economics, we submit that a discussion of remedies should be directed to the two things most needed in the coal industry. These are:

"First—Adequate transportation; Second—Freedom from labor troubles artificially provoked."

Fayette First County in Coal Production, 1921

Pennsylvania in 1921 produced 116,012,942 tons of bituminous coal, valued at $222,538,300, according to a compilation of the United States Geological Survey. The output was exclusive of wagon mines. The average production cost was $2.78 per ton. The industry employed 199,643 persons, 164,222 underground.

The average number of days the miners worked varied from 75 in Clinton county to 274 in Lawrence county. In Fayette the average was 150 days; Westmoreland, 154; Somerset, 173. The average over the entire state was 151 days.

While Fayette county was first in actual production, with 10,260,778 tons, its tonnage had third value, $46,041,000. It stood first also in the number of persons employed, 25,384.

Westmoreland county was second in both production and value—18,066,298 tons and $38,825,000. There were 24,779 persons employed.

Cambria county with 16,339,228 tons, valued at $42,769,000 was third in production. Allegheny was fourth with 11,831,527 tons valued at $34,877,000.

The following table shows by counties the production in net tons and total value:

45,000 PUPILS IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS OF FAYETTE CO

Splendid progress in the work being carried on by the Fayette County Sunday School Association is reported by the officers of the association. To date there are 208 Sunday schools in the association with an enrollment of 2,838 officers and teachers and 44,830 pupils. During the past year 2,366 have joined the various churches through the work of the association.

The purpose of the organization is that by a united effort the association plans to study out the best methods and bring into the work expert information on Sunday school organization and administration. It is not only the plan of the association to try and hold those already in the Sunday Schools but to reach out after the thousands who are not in the schools and who are without religious training of any kind.

The association is complete in every detail with men and women who are interested in Sunday school work and who earnestly desire the salvation of the boys and girls of Fayette county. The work of the county is divided into 21 districts, 19 of which are completely organized, one partly organized and one without an organization at this time. The association expects to have all the districts fully organized in the near future.

As soon as a complete organization is formed the association expects to put on a crusade to gather in the boys and girls of Fayette county that they may be taught of Him who is the way of the truth and life.

During the month of October the association held its regular executive meeting in Uniontown, while three district meetings were also held, one in District 1 at Wyndy Gap, one in District 12 at Mount Olive Church and another in District 194 at Harmony Church.

The association was represented at the state convention at Lancaster, October 11, 12 and 13, by the following members of the organization: George B. Coughenour, county president; T. Kennedy, Mrs. A. M. Shellenberger, Mrs. Evelyn B. Black, Rebecca King and Mrs. P. C. Daily, Mrs. Charles Stoner, Mrs. C. C. Livingston and Mrs. James Walsh.

One new Bible class was organized in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Fayette City, with a membership of 32 young women. A new home department was organized in District 4 while teachers' training work is being put all over the county and it is believed that a new interest in Sunday schools throughout the county is being developed.

The association has adopted as its slogan: "R. U. A. Dooster, If Not, Why?" and calls on every member of the Sunday schools in the county to host for the organization and thus put it in the front line of Sunday school work.

Vacant Pulpits Concern Ministers Of Baptist Church

How to provide ministers for nine vacant pulpits in the Monongahela Baptist Association was the theme of discussion at a conference of ministers and laymen Thursday at the home of Rev. E. H. Stevens, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Connelville. No definite action was taken but suggestions were made that may lead to the joining of a number of churches under single pastors. This will be developed later.

"Not many laymen know," Rev. Stevens said, "that in the United States there are 30,000 vacant pulpits and that right within our own Monongahela Association there are nine."

Attending the conference besides Rev. Stevens were Rev. C. C. Rich of Scottsdale, Rev. A. Blake of Fayetteville, Rev. B. Buchanan of Smithfield and F. W. Hicks of Connelville.

DR. HETRICK TO DELIVER SERMON ON THANKSGIVING

Service Will Be Held in Morning of November 30 at Presbyterian Church.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Rev. Dr. W. H. Hetrick, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, was selected to deliver the annual Thanksgiving sermon Thursday morning, November 30, in the First Presbyterian Church, at the monthly meeting of the Connelville Ministerial Association held Monday morning in the Baltimore and Ohio N. E. C. A. building.

Officers to serve during the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. Dr. W. H. Hetrick; vice-president, Rev. E. H. Stevens; secretary, Rev. J. H. Dorman; treasurer, Rev. W. P. Russell.

Rev. R. M. Blackwood of Pittsburg, field secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, addressed the ministers.

KEPHART'S COUNSEL MAY APPEAL CASE TO THE SUPERIOR COURT

HARRISBURG, Nov. 11.—John R. Geyer, local counsel for Harmon M. Kephart, former state treasurer, scheduled to appear for trial on November 20, may take an appeal to the Superior Court from the action of the Dauphin County Court refusing to quash the indictments or to sustain his demurrer.

Conferences were held Friday with District Attorney Philip S. Mayer on the subject and, while ordinarily appeals are not taken in such cases, Mr. Geyer believes the action of the magistrate in refusing to discharge the defendant at the trial opens the way for him to go to a higher court.

Attorneys here were impressed with the proposition made by Mr. Geyer, and it is possible he may go into court in a day or two. If the appeal is taken, it may delay the trial. Mr. Geyer is also discussing filing a bill of particulars, which would have the effect of forcing the Commonwealth to provide a large amount of data on the eve of the trial, which will be prolonged in any event and be an involved and expensive procedure for both sides.

Girl Prefers Selling Fruit To the Stage

PITTSBURG, Nov. 11.—"I would rather sell potatoes and bananas than be an actress," Blanche Hawthorne, aged 16, of West Newton, declared at a hearing in morals court Friday before Magistrate DeWolf. The girl had been arrested with Mrs. Bella Ford, alias Stewart, early Friday, at a hotel, where Mrs. Ford was staying. They were charged with vagrancy. They were remanded for further hearing.

The Hawthorne girl met Mrs. Ford at the home of the Good Shepherd, where the girl had been sent by her mother. She was released recently and obtained work in a Monessen fruit store. Last Tuesday the girl said, Mrs. Ford called and induced her to go to Pittsburgh to "become an actress."

At the hearing it developed that Mrs. Ford was a snake charmer and member of a burlesque troupe.

J. S. Braddock and Son-in-Law Purchase Titusville Herald

MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 11.—J. S. Braddock, well-known business man of Mount Pleasant, and his son-in-law, Edgar T. Stephenson, editor of the News-Herald of Franklin, have concluded negotiations for the purchase of the plant of the Titusville Herald and will be given possession on December 1.

The Herald was established in 1856 by Henry Bliss and its ownership and control has been in the family for 60 years. A. M. Bloss, present owner and editor, and son of the founder, is obliged to relinquish management and control on account of failing health. Connellsville Pays Its Silent Tribute to Men Who Died in World War

Ringings of Bells Adds Solemnity to Loud Blowing of Whistles.

FLAGS ARE DISPLAYED

Business Places and Homes Are Decorated With "Old Glory" Legion Members, Foreign Veterans, Non-iter Co., G. A. R. Go to Unifontown.

The biggest feature of Armistice Day in Connellsville was the silent tribute at 11 o'clock—the zero hour. There was plenty of noise, also, whistles and bells mingling in a pandemonium of sound, recalling the joyous occasion when news was received that the armistice had been signed. As the whistles broke forth people in all parts of the city halted as they were reminded of the hour. Festivities gathered in the little groups and in every street women came to the doors of their homes.

There was nothing to see, but the atmosphere seemed to be charged with an air of reverence. First thought, as the whistle sounded, was of the end of the world conflict, but as the church bells joined in thoughts were turned to those who made the supreme sacrifice that such an ending was possible. It was this feeling which held the women speechless on their front steps, and caused the little groups on the streets to remain silent.

The contingent of former service men from Connellsville who participated in the county-wide celebration of Armistice Day at Unifontown today left here at 8:30 o'clock. The World War veterans were carried on a special West Penn street car.

The car was not exclusively for the membership of the American Legion. Many veterans belonging to no organization joined the local group for the day. Connellsville soldiers in the procession at the county seat represented members of the American Legion, Howitzer Company, Veterans of Foreign Wars and veterans of the G. A. R.

About 50 or 60 members of Milton L. Bishop Post here left. Thirty members of the Howitzer Company, in charge of Lieutenant Reich L. Marietta, were also in the uniformed column. The Howitzer Company dragged one of its one-pounders.

The gun was taken to Unifontown ahead of the special car. Lieutenant Marietta hitched it to the rear of his runabout and hauled it across country.

The Civil War veterans, 15 in number, left here just shortly before 9:30 o'clock in a big truck. The old soldiers were warmly bundled in their heavy coats and were a jolly group as their machines left the city.

The downtown district took on a holiday aspect during the morning. Bunting and flags were placed in front of practically every place of business. Later a number of the stores closed for several hours in observance of the occasion. This included all the drug stores, which suspended from 10:30 to noon.

JOSEPH MORELAND RUN OVER BY TRAIN, DIES AT HOSPITAL

Joseph Moreland, 50 years old, formerly of Connellsville, was fatally injured Sunday afternoon about 4:15 o'clock at Everett when run over by a train. It is said that Moreland was attempting to cross through a string of freight cars at the Baltimore & Ohio crossing and lost his balance when a shifting engine headed into the motionless cars to haul the train to the Pennsylvania tracks. Both legs were so badly crushed that amputation was necessary following the removal of the injured man to the Cottage State Hospital. Mr. Moreland died at 2 o'clock this morning.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY IN CHURCHES DEC. 3, IN SCHOOLS DEC. 8

Tuberculosis day will be observed in the churches December 3 and in the schools December 8 as features of the Christmas Seal sale to fight the "white plague." The plan is set forth by John S. Fisher, Pennsylvania chairman for the Christmas Seal sale, in the following statement:

"In connection with the 15th annual sale of Christmas Seals it is suggested that Tuberculosis Day be observed in the churches on Sunday, December 3, and in the schools on Friday, December 8. All church and educational workers are vitally interested in the physical, as well as in the intellectual, moral and spiritual well being of our people. It is, therefore, appropriate that church and school put forth their best efforts in conserving the health of our citizens, inasmuch as the schools and Sunday schools deal with the welfare of the young people, they furnish an inviting field in the war against tuberculosis.

"We confidently put the cause before the pastor, Sunday school superintendent and workers and teachers in our public schools. We earnestly solicit your help and ask you to emphasize on the days above designated the dangers and treatment of tuberculosis to the end that health may be improved and life prolonged, and particularly the part which the Christmas Seal plays in this great effort."

The sale of seals in the Connellsville district will be under the direction of the public health committee of the Woman's Culture Club. Plans were to be discussed at the meeting of the club this afternoon.

Large Vote Cast For T. B. Hospital

GREENSBURG, Nov. 13.—Westmoreland county is to have a tuberculosis hospital.

On Tuesday 15,451 voters, men and women, went on record in favor of the big forward movement in the matter of public health. But 5,561 votes were polled against the proposed tuberculosis hospital.

For the past five years Westmoreland county has had 218 deaths annually from tuberculosis. Since each active case of tuberculosis is known to infect on an average of from eight to 19 persons, the scourge has a big hold in Westmoreland county. In Jeannette, in one month during 1919, 50 families applied to the Union Aid Association for relief, and in 55 of these families, it was found upon investigation that tuberculosis was the cause of their dependency.
